

© 2009 Christine Herzer

“IF-CORRIDOR [a woman carries a bouquet of peonies that makes the visitors write on the wall when they smell it]”

IF EVERY BARBIE NEEDS HER KEN, If my priority were sexual if I slowed down my breath, would I write everything/ must be turned to love that is not love if my mother were dead, would I still leave if I left India, would I feel less or more violated if weaving is an analogy for deceptiveness, if I remove a boundary in myself, I will if

if home was in the loop if we fell in love with our own processes,

2009 Wood Coin: Is Art in the Heart or Does Art Lie Apart from the Love Issue: Herzer,

“IF-CORRIDOR [a woman carries a bouquet of peonies that makes the visitors write on the wall when they smell it]”